

NBCE TO ADMINISTER ADDITIONAL ACUPUNCTURE EXAM IN SEPTEMBER 2010 IN OHIO

Greeley, Colo.—The National Board of Chiropractic Examiners (NBCE) will conduct a special administration of the NBCE Acupuncture examination in Columbus, Ohio, on September 10, 2010. The deadline for application is July 6, 2010.

The September exam will be the third administration in Ohio; nearly three years ago, the State of Ohio approved use of acupuncture by chiropractors with 300 hours of acupuncture training and upon passing the NBCE acupuncture exam with a score of 375 or above. To accommodate this change, the NBCE administered an acupuncture exam in Ohio in September 2008 and in March 2009.

The NBCE acupuncture exam is designed for doctors of chiropractic who use acupuncture as an adjunct to their chiropractic practice in states where acupuncture is a part of their scope of practice. NBCE eligibility guidelines include a requirement that the examinee has received 100+ hours of post-graduate study in meridian style (versus traditional Chinese style) acupuncture. For more information, visit the NBCE Web site at www.nbce.org.
